Personal Cyber Protection

Cyber perils leave individuals vulnerable

Computers, devices and smart appliances can create avenues for cyber attackers to infiltrate your data in order to steal information, extort money and commit fraud.

Personal Cyber Protection covers against:

Cyber Attack

Unauthorized access or malware damage to your computing or connected home device.

Cyber Extortion

Demands to damage, disable or deny you access to files on your devices or systems.

Online Fraud

Online criminal deception, identity theft, and unauthorized use of credit cards or bank accounts.

Data Breach

Loss, theft or accidental release of other individuals' 'personally identifying information' in your care, custody or control.

What can go wrong?

Cyber Attack

A homeowner opened a file attached to what looked like a legitimate email and unleashed a virus which corrupted data and reconfigured the computer setup. Restoration involved reformatting the hard disk, erasing everything on it, and reinstalling the operating system and software applications.

Cyber Extortion

A note popped up on a computer screen demanding ransom be paid for a decryption key to unlock files. The ransom was paid, and an I.T. firm was paid to investigate the ransom and ensure there were no viruses left behind on the computer.
